

Keep Your Organization Secure with the Help of MajorKey

Stakeholder trust in your organization depends on secure information. MajorKey offers a variety of solutions and services that help organizations understand the business impact behind their security strategy. We understand how to delegate access to the right people, who not to provide access to, and how close the loop in your enterprise security strategy. With our advisory, implementation and managed services, MajorKey can help with identity governance, access management, privileged access management, data access governance and devSecOps. We help organizations:

- Provision access confidently and in real-time
- Facilitate platform integrations for a single source user experience
- Protect critical business data and applications at scale through automation
- Retain audit trails on access rights

Streamline your technology

Often times, we find that our clients have 20-30 patched-on tools to help keep their environments secure while the company is rapidly scaling to meet the digital demand expected of them. We are able to demonstrate how companies can eliminate these disparate tools and replace with one or two highly-effective tools. With security breaches continuing to rise, our Identity management, service management, and DevOps experience enable us to take a holistic view of your entire enterprise security strategy.

Identifying gaps in your security.

Our team can strategically audit your environment, provide recommendations for the best way to secure it and can put tools in place that continuously scan and monitor to alert you of possible vulnerabilities. We only implement the best tools in the industry to solve your security issues.

Ensure that the right team members have access they need when they need it.
